Girl Scout Families,

It is with great excitement that I welcome you to the 2026 Girl Scout Cookie Program! This year's theme—Brave. Fierce. Fun!—is one I hold especially close to my heart. It captures the spirit of what it means to be a Girl Scout: courageous in the face of challenge, bold in our ambitions, and always finding joy in the journey. Through the cookie program, our Girl Scouts are not just selling delicious treats—they are stepping confidently into their power.

The Girl Scout Cookie Program is the largest girl-led entrepreneurial program in the world, and each season is an opportunity for Girl Scouts to grow in remarkable ways. Whether it's her first cookie booth or her tenth, your Girl Scout is developing five essential skills: goal setting, decision-making, money management, people skills, and business ethics. These skills don't just help her during cookie season—they stay with her for life.

This program is about more than cookies. It's a launchpad for future leaders, innovators, and change makers. As a family, you play an important role in encouraging your Girl Scout to stretch, grow, and celebrate her achievements. Let her lead the way—ask questions, listen to her ideas, and cheer her on as she takes on this challenge with bravery, fierceness, and a whole lot of fun.

Thank you for being part of this amazing journey. Here's to a season filled with learning, laughter, and success. We are stronger together!

Kristen Hernandez
CEO, Girl Scouts of Southern Arizona

Why Participate in the Cookie Program?

Participating in the world's largest entrepreneurial program is so much more than selling a box of deliciousness. It's life skills, business skills, survival skills—it's learning that the world doesn't run on perfect plans written in ink, but on the nimble adaptability of pencil. Our Girl Scouts learn early that goals shift, challenges pop up, and opportunities appear where you least expect them. And in that moment, a box of cookies becomes a voice, a lesson, a confidence-builder, and a reminder that courage and creativity matter. When Girl Scouts sell cookies, they're not just building a business; they're building themselves into leaders who can weather storms and embrace whatever tomorrow holds.

Every dollar from a cookie box fuels possibility—whether it's a troop adventure, an independent Juliette's dream, or a social impact program that changes lives in our communities. Cookie rewards are not trinkets; they are life-altering experiences that open worlds and horizons. A single bite of a cookie carries us back to memories of home, but for our girls, it propels them forward into futures bright with purpose. Girl Scout Cookies are so much more than anyone realizes—a box of cookies is worth every ounce of effort because it funds courage, confidence, and character in every girl who dares to dream in what ifs.

Don't miss out—say yes to the Cookie Program. Because yes is more than a word; it's a door to opportunity, to discovery, to a world where Girl Scouts learn they are capable of anything. Every box sold plants a seed of courage, and together, we get to watch them grow. When you say yes to the cookie program, you're saying yes to the girl who is finding her voice, yes to the troop that dares to dream, yes to the future leader who learns that obstacles aren't the end but the beginning of resilience.

Say yes to her power, her purpose, her promise—because this is bigger than a cookie, it's her tomorrows.

BRAVE. FIERCE. FUN!

Being brave means trying something new, even if it makes you nervous. It means standing tall, speaking up, and stepping forward, even when it's hard.

Being fierce means showing your strength and passion. It means going after your goals with determination and standing up for what's right. And of course, being fun means finding joy in the journey, laughing with your troop, making memories, and doing what you love.

Put it all together and you've got the heart of a Girl Scout—and the perfect BFF. The question is whether the perfect BFF is best friend forever, black-footed ferret or Brave. Fierce. Fun!

Black-Footed Ferret (BFF)

2026 Cookie Season Mascot

The BFF is also known as the American Polecat.

BFFs are primarily nocturnal and spend most of their time underground, only spending a few minutes above ground each day immediately after sunrise.

They are currently endangered, with fewer than 500 remaining in the wild, but the good news is that the population is increasing!

A baby BFF is called a kit. The average litter is 3-5 kits.

They are native to central North America and are the only wild ferret species native to North America.

An adult BFF usually weighs about 2 lbs and they are about 18-24 in long.

They are carnivores, and their diet consists almost exclusively of prairie dogs.

Ways to Participate in the Cookie Program

The Girl Scout Cookie Program offers various ways for your Girl Scout to choose how to operate their business. Review the options below with your Girl Scout and decide together which to incorporate into the cookie program. Will it be just one, two, or maybe all?

Cookie Booths

Coordinate with your Troop Cookie Chair to schedule times and dates for setting up a cookie booth in front of a local business. This is a great opportunity for your Girl Scout to engage with new customers, participate in teamwork, and develop marketing skills. Don't forget the booth theme contests! For the best experience, there should be at least two Girl Scouts and two adults at the booth.

Cookie Stands

Set up a Cookie Stand on your own property or on private residential property owned by a family member or friend to sell to passers-by. When running a Cookie Stand, an adult must be present at that stand (not inside the house). Be sure to check with Homeowners' Associations for any permits needed.

Social Media

Girl Scouts can market their cookie business online with permission, following GSUSA's safety tips. Digital Cookie links can be shared on social media, either on a parent's account or, for those over 13, on their own. Posts should not be public-facing. Review our social media guidelines on page 27 and GSUSA's Digital Marketing Tips and Safety Tips before starting. Consider hosting a private Facebook Live event for a personal touch to share their cookie business with family and friends.

Digital Cookie

Digital, Cookie, also known as Digital Order Card or DC, allows your Girl Scout to create a personalized website. Help your Girl Scout set up their site to share what they will use their cookie earnings for, setting a goal, and maybe even recording a video message. Then share the link with family and friends near and far allowing customers to order and pay for their cookies online! Customers decide whether to have your Girl Scout deliver the cookies or have them shipped directly.

Door-to-Door/Rolling Sale

When accompanied by an adult, Girl Scouts can take their wagon or cookie cart (available at the Girl Scout Shop) and go door-to-door in the neighborhood. Before heading out, help your Girl Scout create a business card or a door hanger (template is available on our website), so customers can order through DC or contact you later.

Business Pitches

Support your Girl Scout in the professional world by helping them reach out to businesses to see if they can present their pitch to employees. Your workplace might be a good place to start. If approved, your Girl Scout will present a pitch at the scheduled time, share what has been learned during the program, the goals they're working towards, and how the cookie funds will benefit their community.

Your Role as Caregiver in Achieving Troop Goal

When your Girl Scout participates in the cookie program with a troop, the season begins with girl-led planning. Together, the girls talk about what they want to accomplish during the year—community service projects, badges and patches, higher awards, fun outings, or even travel. From those ideas, the troop creates a budget, and the Cookie Program becomes the path to making it all possible. Instead of relying only on dues or caregivers writing checks, girls are earning their own way and learning to become self-sufficient.

Cookie Caregiver Meeting

Your troop leader and Cookie Chair will share these plans with caregivers during a “Cookie Caregiver meeting”. At that time, they will outline the troop’s overall goal, the number of packages needed to be sold to fund it, and what that means for each Girl Scout. If your troop has Cadettes, Seniors, and Ambassadors, they will present this information. You will also learn about:

- Timelines for payment
- Cookie pick-up hours
- Booth commitments
- Required memberships and background clearance dependent on your role at a cookie booth

This is similar to sports, dance, bands, booster clubs, or school clubs, with seasons and commitments, where everyone contributes to the team’s—or in this case, a troop’s—success.

A note on kindness and compassion

Your Troop Cookie Chair plays a vital role in the success of your troop’s cookie season, collaborating with caregivers, girls, council staff, and the community. Remember to lead with kindness. Respond with understanding when challenges arise, offer help, and listen with empathy. We are all on the same team. By showing compassion, we strengthen our community and uplift each other. Let’s embrace empathy, respect, and care together.

Caregiver Financial Responsibility

When your Girl Scout participates in the Cookie Program, you are responsible for all cookies she takes. This means keeping accurate records, turning in money on time, keeping every receipt, and communicating promptly with your troop. Clear records, timely payments, and open communication ensure the Cookie Program runs smoothly for everyone.

We suggest checking out what your Girl Scout needs to sell each week rather than trying to do it all at once, but only you can decide what fits best for your family!

Individual Goals: Your Path to Success

Helping Create A Cookie Goal

A cookie goal isn't just about the number—it's about strategy and time well spent. Not every day is equal. Weekends are powerful selling days, often best used for troop opportunities like booths that move lots of cookies at once and help the troop reach shared goals. But don't underestimate weekdays—those quieter days are perfect for one-on-one sales, reconnecting with neighbors, delivering to coworkers, or following up with Digital Cookie supporters. Every day counts when you're working toward a higher independent goal.

That's why using the first two weeks of Digital Cookie for pre-sales is such a game-changer. From the comfort of home, your Girl Scout can send emails and texts and start collecting pre-orders before she even has cookies in hand. Less than 50% of Girl Scouts take advantage of this early window, which means many begin the season with fewer days of opportunity. The season is 63 days long, but without Digital Cookie pre-sales, you're already down to 51. By combining online pre-sales with a strong opening weekend—booth plus door-to-door—you front-load success and make the daily path to her big goal much more manageable.

Maximize your resources, balance troop goals with personal goals, and protect your time. With strategy, consistency, and a little creativity, every box sold becomes a step toward courage, confidence, character—and your Girl Scout's dreams.

One important life lesson we like to share is that seasons are just that—seasons. They are short and focused, with cookie season lasting only 63 days. Some of these days are digital-only, while others involve in-person sales at booths. We liken cookie season to how life works for us as adults. If we could all work really hard for just two months—63 days—and then enjoy the rest of the year filled with plans and adventures, we would jump at the chance! That's exactly what cookie season, based on their efforts, offers our girls. With your support, their troop goals can be achieved financially, allowing them to focus on growth, service, fun, and creating lasting memories.

Goal Setting

Whether your Girl Scout's goal is 50, 500, or 5,000 packages, having a well-thought-out plan is essential! As part of this plan, you will need to help your Girl Scout decide how to run her cookie program. Will they host a Cookie Stand, share their DC link, work at a booth with fellow troop members, or use a combination of these and other methods?

Another critical aspect in reaching that goal is determining how many packages you need to sell each day or week to stay on track, based on your family's agreement for the number of days you are actively participating.

If your Girl Scout ever falls short of a daily or weekly goal, remind them that it is okay to adjust a goal, and a quick recalculation will get them back on track. Maybe you and your Girl Scout can find an extra day to dedicate to cookie sales, suggest they resend emails from their Digital Cookie site, check with the Troop Cookie Chair to see if there is another booth opportunity, or even re-evaluate the goal.

All of these adjustments are perfectly fine because this is your Girl Scout's Cookie Program.

There's no magic formula for success, just a steady focus, courageous attempts, and a willingness to learn and try again until the target goal is achieved.

Family Goal Setting: All In Together

When your Girl Scout sets her cookie goal, the whole family is part of the journey, just like science fair projects, band outings, soccer games, cheerleading etc.. Success isn't just about her selling—it's about creating a family strategy that fits your families calendar and keeps everyone sane while helping her shine.

- Start with the calendar. Look at the 63 days of the program and mark your family's busy weeks, free weekends, days off, holidays and special events.
- Claim the first two weeks. Use Digital Cookie pre-sales to get ahead—those few hours at home now will save time later.
- Weekends = troop power. Prioritize troop booths and group goals, especially early in the season.
- Weekdays = personal power. Use these for one-on-one asks, neighbor visits, and follow-ups that build toward her independent goal.
- Balance is key. Some families sell every weekend, some only in the first few weeks, others spread it out—find the rhythm that works for you.

When the whole family builds the plan together, her big number turns into daily wins—and daily wins turn into achievable success for her because she has her team, her family, behind her success.

Example 1

The goal is 550 packages, and your Girl Scout decides (with your help) that she can dedicate one day every weekend, plus every Tuesday and Thursday to the cookie business. That gives her 22 days to work with: $550 \div 22 = 25$ packages a day.

Example 2

Let's look at a goal of 5,000 packages. You have both agreed to prioritize the cookie program for the entire 63 days: $5,000 \div 63 = 80$ packages a day.

Example 3

If your family's schedule varies and it will be hard to set specific days, you might want to calculate the goal on a weekly basis. Including the two weeks of Digital Cookie at the beginning of the season, the cookie program lasts nine weeks. Take the total goal and divide by nine (or seven if you aren't using DC). If your goal is to earn the Wave Makers: $800 \text{ packages} \div 9 = 89$ packages a week OR $800 \div 7 = 114$ packages a week.

Juliettes (Independently Registered Girl Scouts)

Your Sale, Your Way

A Juliette is an independently registered Girl Scout (IRG) who participates in Girl Scouting activities without a traditional troop. It's a flexible, "Choose Your Own Adventure" experience.

Participating in the cookie program as a Juliette can mean a Girl Scout:

- Is a traditional Juliette/IRG—no troop
- Participates in any 4330 Juliette troop experience
- Has a troop that is not participating in the Cookie Program
- Is in a staff-led/school troop

Key Differences from Troop Participation

- Juliettes don't have a troop bank account; they deposit money earned for cookie pickup into a council bank account using an ATM card.
- Juliettes receive Program Credits instead of dollars, detailed in the Juliette Credit Breakdown section.

Steps to Join Cookie Season as a Juliette:

1. Ensure you and your Girl Scout have a current registration, and you have a background check.
2. Indicate interest by filling out the Interest Form.
3. Complete the required cookie program training.
5. Receive an eBudde confirmation from juliettesupport@girlscoutsoaz.org
6. Place Initial Order (before December 8) OR place first order (after December 8).
7. Pick up your Cookie Program Success Kit.
 - a. Initial Orders: Yuma on January 14 or Ralph's Warehouse on January 16.
 - b. First Order: Angel's Place for Girls, Yuma, or Sierra Vista on first cupboard day after sale begins (sign up via eBudde).
8. Start selling and earning badges and rewards! You can pick up cookies from any Cookie Cupboard in Southern Arizona after your first order pickup.

Ways to Earn

- Online Sales: Use Digital Cookie for virtual sales with direct-ship or Girl Delivery options
- In-Person Sales: Sell to teachers, family, and friends, use a wagon to sell in your neighborhood, set up booths, or work council booths

Booths

Booths can be an important part of your Girl Scout's cookie program. There are different types of booths. Here we will give you a brief overview and you can read about them in more detail on our website.

Council Booths

These booths are organized by council staff and their representatives for the benefit of all cookie program participants. While each troop may do things a little differently, your troop will probably ask at your family cookie meeting in December what your availability is to help at a booth, and how many booths your Girl Scout is willing to work based on goals. It is important to be realistic about what you can commit to. Each troop's cookie chair will select booths through a series of rounds before the date of the first booth and schedule troop members to work at those booths. If you have given the troop cookie chair 20 dates that you will be available and booths are selected based on that, and you now say you're not able to go to some of them, that will hurt not only your own Girl Scout's ability to reach her goals but also affect the troop overall. More booths can be added during the program if needed. It is definitely better to add than overcommit in the beginning.

Troop Booths

These are organized and secured by a troop at a location they think would be a good selling opportunity for them (them = their troop collectively, not an individual Girl Scout in the troop). Troops must get written permission from the business. Your Troop Cookie Chair can provide you with the form that needs to be completed and submitted to Council for review and the troop will receive an email advising if the troop booth is approved or denied after it has been reviewed. Troop members should not advertise a troop booth or set up at a troop booth location until an approval email is received from eBudde.

Cookie Stands

This is when a Girl Scout sets up a table in a booth-style on a family or friend's personal property. These are not held at locations associated with a business. These stands can be worked by one Girl Scout and one adult. The adult does not need to be registered and background cleared, as the Girl Scout will not be using troop inventory or troop money; rather, the cookies will be already checked out from the troop to that Girl Scout. The adult must remain at the cookie stand at all times, as being in the house and keeping an eye from inside is not within safety guidelines.

Booth Contests

Don't forget to decorate your booth, and if you do it in the themes in effect, you can enter to win Care to Share cookies to help you towards your goal. Check out all the possibilities on pages 18 and 19.

NEW

VIP Visitors

This year, our VIP visitors will be making booth visits throughout the council on weeknights and during the final weekend to find Girl Scouts who are working on their cookie sale during less busy times and those who sell all the way to the end of the program.

On their visits, the VIPs will ask Girl Scouts about their goals. All Girl Scouts at these booths will receive a small memento.

Did you know Care to Share earns special rewards AND counts towards your overall rewards?

Care to Share

This option allows customers who prefer not to buy cookies for themselves to still support your Girl

Scout by donating the cost of a box online or in person, especially when customers say they can't eat or don't need cookies.

The Girl Scout still earns credit toward sales and rewards, while donated cookies are delivered to military members, first responders, food banks, and other local heroes. This initiative helps Girl Scouts achieve their goals while spreading kindness in the community. It's a win-win for everyone!

Want to be a part of the packaging of donated Care to Share cookies? Our packing parties will be hosted on March 14. More information to come—all are welcome!

Conversation Starters

- "Already picked up your favorites? You can still share the joy by donating"
- "The 10th cookie doesn't come in a box—it goes straight to support local heroes. Want to add one to your order?"
- "Every box counts, and so does every gift! Would you like to donate today?"
- "Would you like to buy a box for yourself and a box for someone else?"
- "Cookies come in nine delicious flavors—and the 10th is kindness. Want to donate today?"
- "Already stocked up? The 10th cookie is a donation that helps others enjoy Girl Scout Cookies too!"
- "The 10th cookie is special—it's the cookie that gives back. Want to be part of it?"

- Take money with you, including small bills; do not ask the businesses to make change.
- Adults may not carry weapons or use tobacco products when supervising booths.
- Cookie sampling is not allowed.
- Do NOT give discounts, offers (i.e. BOGO), or increase the price; everyone charges the same $6 for core and $7 for gluten-free cookies.
- Set up only at the designated start time; clean up promptly afterward.
- Take all trash with you, including empty cookie cases.
- Maintain a neat and clean booth area.
- Keep cookies off the ground and dress for the weather while displaying uniforms.

- Encourage professional behavior: no running, speak courteously.
- Greet customers as they enter and encourage purchases as they leave.

Girl Scout cookie booths must be held in safe, family-friendly locations that reflect our mission and values. Businesses whose primary purpose is selling or promoting adult-only products or services (e.g. cannabis shops, liquor stores, gun stores, strip clubs, or similar venues) are NOT approved locations. These settings are not age-appropriate, may display content unsuitable for children, and do not align with the positive, community-focused image we strive to maintain for Girl Scouts.

Important Reminders about Digital Cookie

- All orders that request "Girl Delivery" must be approved by the caregiver in Digital Cookie (browser or app) within 5 days. If it is not approved, it will convert to the customer's choice of cancel or donate.
- Girl Delivery orders should be fulfilled directly from inventory you have checked out from your troop and are already included in the total recorded as sold in eBudde.
- All payments will be collected from the customer on the app and credited to your Girl Scout in eBudde, reducing the amount owed to the troop.

Cookie Contests

Summer Camp

Dear Campers and Families,

We're excited to kick off another magical summer with you!

Last summer, we asked our campers to dream up ideas for our 2026 season. Inspired by a camper submission, this year's theme is "Kindness is my Compass."

With kindness as our guiding principle, we've set our course, charting new paths to friendship, discovery, and memories that will last a lifetime.

We're excited to welcome new and returning campers to the Hacienda Day Camp and Camp Whispering Pines. Both of our camp properties offer adventures from creative arts to outdoor exploration. Every day spent at camp brings new opportunities and fun-filled moments.

Where will your compass lead you? Join us this summer to find out!

Register early to secure your spot—spaces go fast, and the adventure waits for no one.

- Glide through dinosaur territory with canoeing
- Cast your line on the lake with fishing
- Embark on a thrilling geocache quest
- Test your aim with slingshots
- Create Jurassic-themed crafts and activities
- Cap it all off with our legendary all-camp party that rivals a massive volcanic eruption!

Who is Jamboree For?

- Girl Scout Juniors through Ambassadors—this experience is just for you!

Why Jamboree is Special

- A Signature Tradition—happens only once every two years! A true milestone that builds confidence, independence, and community among Girl Scouts!
- Part of the Girl Scout Travel Progression—from troop camping to eventually traveling the globe, this event helps Juniors step boldly into their Girl Scout journey!

When and Where is Jamboree?

April 10-12, 2026
Roper Lake State Park

Cost: $75 per Girl Scout, $75 per adult beyond ratio—just 94 cookie boxes per attendee pays for this incredible core-memory!

Using troop proceeds for events like this one is one of the best ways to turn planning and teamwork into an epic adventure together. Be sure to add Jamboree to your girl-led planning this spring—it could even become an internal troop cookie reward.

Adventure ALL Weekend Long

- Friday: Arrive, set up camp, cook with your troop, enjoy troop led-fun!
- Saturday: Pack a lunch and dive into staff-led adventures—canoeing, tie-dye, geocaching and so much more.
- Saturday NIGHT: Celebrate at the legendary “Island Party” with music, dancing, and volcanic surprises!
- Sunday: Share breakfast, pack up, and head home tired, but so full of memories!

Frequently Asked Questions

My troop decided not to participate in the cookie program. Can my Girl Scout do it on her own?

- Yes! A Girl Scout in a troop (that is not participating) can join in the cookie program as a Juliette. She will remain a member of her troop for all other activities. You can find out more about the Juliette Cookie Program on pages 10 and 11 or by emailing juliettesupport@girlscoutsoaz.org

Where can Girl Scouts sell cookies?

- Girl Scouts can sell cookies online through Digital Cookie (shipping fees are paid by the customer), door-to-door, at cookie stands, and at cookie booths. All cookie stands, cookie booths, and door-to-door experiences must happen within our council jurisdiction. We do not set boundaries within our council, and any Girl Scout can go door-to-door or set up a cookie booth (at a council-approved location) anywhere within our council.

What payment methods can we accept from customers?

- Girl Scouts can accept payments through Digital Cookie, cash, and checks that are made out to your troop. If a family decides to accept payments through a third-party, such as Venmo or Zelle, the caregiver is accepting responsibility for any fees associated with the payment and remains responsible for payment to the troop, should there be any difficulty with the payment. Troops may only accept debit or credit card payments through Digital Cookie and, if approved by your troop, Square, Zelle, Google Pay, etc.—but only if attached to troop bank account.

Can a customer or Girl Scout return cookies?

- Customers who receive damaged cookies through a shipped order should contact Little Brownie Bakers at 800-962-1718. For in-person purchases, they can request a replacement through the Girl Scout they purchased from, or any booth. If you are asked to replace cookies you did not sell, please let your Troop Cookie Chair know, and they coordinate with Council for those cookies to be replaced.

Can a Girl Scout sell cookies on the internet?

- The only approved channel for internet sales is Digital Cookie. Cookies may not be sold on buy/sell/trade websites, such as eBay, Craigslist, or Facebook Marketplace. See page 27 for more details about online activity.

Did the price of cookies go up this year?

- No. Cookie prices remain at $6 per package for our core cookies (including the new Exploremores) and $7 for the gluten-free Toffee-tastic cookies.

What happens if we check out too many cookies?

- Be sure you take your cookies in small batches! While your troop may accept cookie returns up until a set date, legally, once you take the cookies, they become YOUR financial responsibility and must be paid for, whether they are sold or not. If you start feeling that you have too much inventory, communicate with your Troop Cookie Chair, and they may be able to help you, either by finding more sales opportunities or transferring cookies to another troop family. Communication is key! Speak up early—after the sale ends is too late.

What is Cookie Dough?

- Cookie Dough is virtual council “money” that Girl Scouts earn through our council product programs. It can be used to pay for council programs, camps, travel, membership dues, and in our retail shops. It cannot be used outside of our council, and should be used for the benefit of the Girl Scout that earned it.

How can troops use the proceeds they earn?

- The cookie program should be the main source of funding for Girl Scout troops. The proceeds earned can be used to cover the costs of membership renewal, badges, uniforms, meeting supplies, field trips, travel, and other related expenses. All decisions should be girl-led, fostering self-sufficiency.

More questions?

If your question wasn't answered here, connect with your Troop Cookie Chair first, as many questions can be troop specific. If they are unable to help, contact Customer Care at (520) 327-2288 or email customercare@girlscoutsoaz.org.
